THE CRIPPLES DEFEATED.

The Honolulus Peg Up Another Notch in the Championship

It took the Honolulus over two hours to play eight innings and defeat the Hawaiis on Saturday. Two broken bats at 10 A. M. and two balls took part. And such a game! It was so slow that a person on foot could have easily caught up to any Day point in it. Runners and fielders slumered, while in the grand stand there was not enough enthusiasm to give either side a decent send-off. That there were some good individual plays as well as bad ones made, goes without saying. The crippled Hawaiis did their best to win from beginning to end. In the second and third innings the Honolulus rattled worse than a Beretania street tram car, enough errors being made to lose any game; it was a circus and a street parade of the loftiest order. The Honolulus won, however, but it wasn't their fault, as they play ball only when they have to. The attendance was slim, notwithstanding that the day was a perfect one for ball playing. The first runs were made in the second by the Hawaiis, Lushiwa being hit nity for a good investment. with a pitched ball, getting his first, a hit by Woods, Pryce getting his first on a passed ball, and all three came home on a wild throw by Whitney and a Auction Sale-At Jas. F. Morgan's salespassed ball by Chan. Wilder. Kaouli got home on a wild throw, a muff by Ernie Wodehouse and a passed ball This gave them four runs, and the Ha> waiis were tavorites. In the third innings, the Hawaiis got hree more runs on a two-base hit by Simmons, Luahiwa again being hit by a pitched ball, Woods getting his base on balls and a base hit by Rosa. The Honolulus got one run in the second on Chan. Wilder's base hit, he stealing second and coming home on a wild pitch. In the third they made eight runs on a series of errors by the Hawaiis, which would take a column to describe. There was not an earned run in the whole eight. Three more runs were made in the fourth, in the same way, which practically gave the Honolulus the game. No more runs were made by either side during the game.
